BIOGRAPHY

Victoria Kelly is an award winning film composer and musician. After completing her undergraduate degree in Auckland, New Zealand, she completed post-graduate studies in film scoring at the University of Southern California, Los Angeles, under the tutelage of Elmer Bernstein, David Raksin, Leonard Rosenman and Christopher Young.

Although her focus is film composing, Victoria also works as an arranger, performer and producer. She has collaborated with some of New Zealand's most renowned artists including SJD, Nathan Haines and Shapeshifter.

Her contemporary classical music has been commissioned, performed and recorded by many of New Zealand's leading performers and ensembles including NZTrio, the New Zealand String Quartet, Stroma and Michael Houstoun. For her work in film and television, she has received numerous nominations and won two New Zealand Screen Awards.

Her most recent work has included composing the scores for 'Black Sheep' and 'Under the Mountain' for director Jonathan King, composing the score for 'Out of the Blue' for director Robert Sarkies and collaborating as an arranger and orchestrator on 'The Lovely Bones' for Fran Walsh and Peter Jackson.
